HARRY COVERDALE'S COURTSHIP

AND WHAT CAME OF IT.

As he insimuated this skilfully veiled compliment, the exquisite Horace fronted its application by favoring Al-ice with a languishing willade, which was certainly not without effect; for it excited in the breast of Harry Coverdalo a sudden, intense, and dures sonable desire then and there lieserly to kick the talented originator of the compliment—an impulse which he was only combled to check by a powerful effort; which caused him to twitch the reins so suddenly as painfully to com press the delicate mouth of "My Aunt Sally," to an extent which justified Sally," to an extent which justified that outraged quadruped in converting herself for the time being into a biped by standing erect on her hind legs, and pawing the air with her front ones.

"Soho, girl! gently, guitly!" claimed Hazlehurst, who not having perceived the exciting cause of the maceuvie, attributed the mare's tinmanerly beliavior to an outbreak of inherent viciousness. 'Why, Harry what on earth is the matter with the creature.
Probably acthing more than a resonless caprice natural to her sex, was Harry's ungallant reply. 'Possibly she may have the bad taste to picfer the circ ture comforts of a cool stable and a good feed of corn to remaining is the broiling sunshine, even with the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the beauties of Hazelhurst; and as he made this double-tongued observation, Harry glanced carelessly round over wood and field, so that an one not acquainted with the play of his features would have been puzzled to decide whether he was himself aware of the full force of his remark.

'A pretty broad hint that I am not to keep the mare standing any long-cr, returned Hazelhurst, laughing. That fellow cares for nothing in the world but his horses, except his dogs and his double-barrel. Well, I suppose you girls will be coming home

Quite as soon as we are wanted, if your amiable and complimentary friend has any voice in the matter,' returned Alice, soto vocc.
'Nonsense,' was the reply, in the same tone; you know nothing about him, you silly child. Harry is the kindert-hearted, best-tempered fellow in the world, as you'll find out before long.

Alice's only reply was an increduous toss of her pretty head, and the parties separated.

'Of all the supies I ever beheld that creature D'Almayne is the most insufferable-the very sight of him irritates when he has only known her a few If I were you I should not stund it.

At all events his compliments are of a more civil nature than yours,' retured Haz hurst with a smile; why Harry, you are becoming as peppery a character as your namesake Hotspur himself."

Tam like him in one particular, at all events? was the reply; 'for I cannot stand a coxcomb:

"I strikes me that is not the only point in which you resemble the gunpowder Percei as old Fallstaff calls him. By the way, he continued, 'what in the world was the matter with Aunt Sally a minute ago? She seems to go quietly enough now.'

I rather fancy that something most have hurt her mouth,' replied Harry, turning away his head to conceal smile. As he spoke, they drove found the gravel sweep leading to the hall door of Huzelhurst Grange ; beneath the porch sat two gentlemen-in one of them, corpnient and elderly, Coverdale had little trouble in recognizing from his likeness to his friend, Mr. Hazelhurst, senior; while the other, tall, thin and cadaverous looking he rightly conjectured to be the opulent and amorous cotton-spinner, Jedi diah Crane.

The day on which we resume the thread of our narrative, was to be devoted to a pic-nic party the object being to devour unlimited cold lamb and pigeon pie amongst the ruins of an old abbey, some eight miles from the Grange. The morning was lovely, every one appeared in high spirits, and the expedition promised to be a prosperous one.

'Now, then, good people,' exclaimed Arthur Hazelburst, what are the arrangements-who rides, who drives, who goes with who?-come to the point and settle something, for the tempus is fugit-ing at a most allowing

NEW BOOKS

At this season the book publishers seem to be animated with more than usual activity. Quite a number of new books have Garibaidi, the hero of Rome, opposed to lain on our table for some days, unnoticed, the same French in 1849, when Oudinot in consequence of the pressure on our col- besieged Rome; and, secondly, the Duke umns during Election Week. We shall notice these at greater length as fast as Phillippe, and brother to the Count of possible to-day we can only mention the Paris. The young Prince serves in the following as the principal new publications

R. H. DANA JR'S "To Cuba and Back n Vacation Voyage"

HENRY KINGSLEY'S Recollections o Geoffery Hamlyn.

MRS. JAMESON'R Memories of the Italian Painters.

All these are issued by Ticknor and Fields: the last volume being one of their "blue and gold" series.

. HUCH MILLER'S posthumous work is published by Gould and Lincoln under the title of Popular Geology.

Phillips, Sampson & Co., send Seacliff a nov I by J. W. De Forest, is running neck and neck with Geoffery Hamlye, mentioned above for the honor of being the most talked of book of the day.

European Correspondence of the News Paris, May 25, 1859.

Since the Emperor has left Paris we have been daily expecting to hear of a hattle fought with the Austrians, and have just now been gratified with the news of the battle of Montebello. It had been rumored that the Emperer had expressed his unwittingness to have any newspaper correspondents following his army, the task of informing the world of his movements devolving on his secretaries, but that appears not to be the case, since our principal newspapers have at present their oblest writers at the seat of

In spice of his popularity, the actor could not proceed with bis part; being assailed decidently to seed, bowed appealingly not proceed with his part, being described to Alice, who, catchings her father's by the public with the cries of canadia tedesca, (german scoundrel;) and the spectators were hardly prevented from jumping upon the stage and asmiling the poor fellow otherwise than by words. The performance was interitipted; the innocent vic tim of the popular wrath fefusing to go farther, and tramping down upon the uniform which had brought him to such dis favor. This reminds us of a similar occur fence at the time of the Crimean war, when the Parisians were nightly excited against the Hussians at the thealre de la Gaile, by a piece called les Cosaques. In one instance, the excitement was so great against the actors who represented the Cossacks that their comrades in order to please the public, had to handle them about more roughly than it was requisite, and the next night there was a strike among the Rusbruises they had received. A singular feature of the present war Is

But let him make the was short if he wishes to preserve it, and his dynasty is firmly established in France.

He wason his way from the residence of his thoughter in Brond Street; to his own home to Themes Street, and had nearly reached home; when he was attacked, as is supposed, by disease of the heart, and died instantly: Mr. Stevens was in the 76th year of his age. He was a worthy offixen, a kind father, an obliging friend, and was beloved by all who knew him. He held for come time the office of Street Commissioner of Newport:

There seems to be a generally expressed rish that there should be a Now York mail for Newport through the summer season; by way of the Shore Line Rattroad. By such as arrangement, the New York morning papers would reach Newport fourteen hours earlier than by the present made of houveyance. We ses no good reason why, with the facilities of trensportation furnished by this route, this city should not be favored with two mails from New York daily during the summer months. We trust our efficient Postmaster will lay the matter before the Department at Washington for their consideration and action.

House dreaking.—The house of Mrs. Julia Eckley, No. 30 Palham Street, was broken into about 3 colock yesterday morning, by some persons unknown, for the purpose of plunder. After pretty thoroughly ransacking the house, night there was a strike among the Rus-tians for higher wages, on account of the inmates, and fled without securing any booty об сонведчелсе.

Gold's Patent Low Pressure Self-Regulating Apparatus.

A S manufactures by the Rhude Island Steam Heating Company, Pawtucket, R. I.

This method of warming both public and private buildings, as has been proved by actual experience for the fast four years, is the cheapest, satest, most pleusant and healthful of any other known method. I leaves the state of the best manner entirely free Int of any other known method. It leaves the room heated in this manner entirely free from the gasses, dust, smoke, &c., which are continually arising from stoves and but air furnaces. The heat produced is sufficient to warm a cold building in the coldest of yeather, and is also mild, preasant and agreeable, having the softness of summer air; and to the consumptive and invalidit is invaluable.

ble. This apparatus can be put into buildings in process of election or those already built. We shall endeaver in all cases to put up. the Apparatus in a style not only meritorious to ourselves, but to the satisfaction of our customers.
